High winds lash Hancock, record temperatures fall

By ELLIS CUEVAS

A severe wind and thunderstorm hit the southern end of Hancock County late Tuesday causing prolonged electrical outages for many and a welcomed respite from the heat for others.

Communications at the Hancock County Sheriff's office were interrupted when an antenna was completely destroyed.

The tower struck one sheriff's vehicle breaking the windshield and fell between three other police autos parked next to the jail.

"We were lucky no one was hurt, because a few minutes before there were a lot of people leaving the Courthouse," Sheriff Ronald Peterson said while surveying the damages.

Max Herring, NSTL spokesman, said Wednesday, "Tornado-like winds touched down at NSTL about 6:30 p.m.

Tuesday. Several trees were blown down with a few buildings being struck. There was no damage to the facilities. Power was out to one building, but it was restored early Wednesday."

Perry Gibson, manager for Mississippi Power Company in Bay St. Louis, reported approximately 1,200 to 1,500 residences were without lights from one to 12 hours.

"The storm caused a lot of scattered damage by felling trees and limbs across power lines. We had two crews working throughout the night restoring the power," Gibson said.

The Hancock sheriff's messages were being relayed through the Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police Department dispatchers until a temporary antenna was installed.

Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille, Waveland Police investigator, said the Waveland Police station operated for several hours on an emergency unit during the power failure.

A spokesman for Blossman Gas, Inc. reported quick action by Diamondhead's Fire Department avoided a disaster when they quelled one of the company's gas tanks on fire after lightning struck a tree and the tank on the Kiln-Delisle road.

Bob Occhi, manager of operations for Coast Electric, stated, "We had service crews out until midnight repairing mostly lightning damage to transformers. We had trees and limbs on the wires."

The Coast Electric spokesman said the most damage in Hancock was in Diamondhead and North of Dupont, adding there was considerable damage to the system North of Long Beach in Harrison County.

Gibson said his repair crews did not complete restoration until around 8 a.m. Wednesday morning, adding his system had also received damages in Pass Christian from the 'severe local thunderstorm,' as he described it.

Rain fell was light in most cases. Wanda Stenkliff, dispatcher for the Mississippi Forestry Commission at Rocky Hill Tower, reported only .02 inches of rain fall.

A record of temperatures were taken each day at 2 p.m., Ms. Stenkliff said, and on July 1, 100 degrees was recorded.

"We check the temperature and record it at 2 p.m. each day. A 101 degree recording was made on July 13 and 102 on July 14. Tuesday we recorded 99 and Wednesday, 98," the dispatcher said.

Ms. Stenkliff commented, "One day I checked the temperature at 12:45 p.m. and it was 103 and then it clouded up a bit and at 2 p.m. it was 93 degrees. Just about every day this month the temperature has gone above the 100 degree mark."

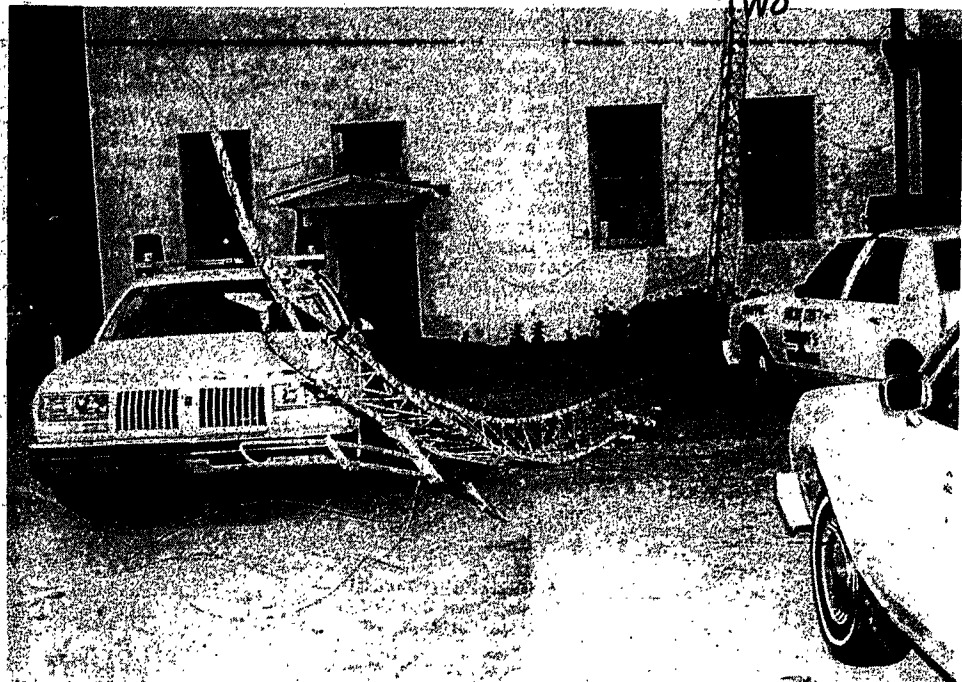

Gibson reported the Cedar Point area in Bay St. Louis, and Waveland area from St. Joseph to Waveland Avenue, and Clermont Harbor were the areas suffering the longest outages because of the wind and lightning storm.

Lillie Bernond, spokesman for the Bay St. Louis Police Department, reported there was a tree down on North Beach near the bridge, another tree on Chartres Street, one at Necaise and Main and limb troubles near Hancock General and on St. Charles.

Waveland's Mayor John Longo said he received numerous telephone calls Tuesday night on lights being out.

Longo said, "We had our police and fire departments on alert and we

ANTENNA TOWER TOPPLED-The Hancock County Sheriff's Department radio antenna tower atop the Courthouse in Bay St. Louis was knocked over about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday by high winds which accompanied a thunderstorm system moving through this area at the time. Slight damage was inflicted to this sheriff's vehicle, but there were no injuries in the incident. Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Wednesday department communications are being routed via Waveland and Bay St. Louis Police radio systems while repairs are underway to the county facility. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Hancock United Way sets $40,000 goal

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Richard (Dick) Kosbab presided over the 1980 campaign kick-off meeting of the United Way of Hancock County.

A goal of $40,000 has been set for the United Way for Hancock in 1980 and brochures are at the printer now, according to Mrs. C.R. Beyer, executive secretary.

Letters will be mailed by the end of July, according to Mrs. Beyer, to regular contributors.

The goal of the 1979 campaign was $35,000, but the directors felt the necessity to increase the 1980 goal since all agencies supported by the local United Way are requesting more funding, due primarily to inflation.

Ed Friloux, chairman of the local chapter of the American Red Cross, made a presentation to the United Way. Friloux reported on the amount of monies spent by the local chapter during the past year.

The chairman said that Mrs. Thelma Kergosien handled 139 cases involving military, 27 veterans and 128 civilian related to military cases during the past year.

The chapter issued aid to 17 families involved in the tornado in May and taught 522 to swim or swim better and taught several CPR courses during the year.

Other agencies served by the United Way had presented budgets at earlier meeting.

Friloux said the big thing the local Red Cross unit needs is a van to be used during times of emergencies, such as fires, tornadoes, etc.

There was a unit from the Civil Defense but use of it had to be discontinued as Friloux said, "it was worn out and cost too much to keep running."

The United Way of Hancock supports the Hancock County American Red Cross, Hancock County Emergency Relief, Boy Scouts - Cypress District; Girl Scouts - Gulf Pines Council; SMP-DD - Hancock Day care for the Elderly; Catholic Social Services; Gulf Coast Mental Association; Retired Senior Volunteer Program; Hancock County Blood Bank; U.S.O. - Worldwide; Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund; Goodwill Industries of South Mississippi, Inc.; Mississippi Council on Epilepsy, Inc., and the Salvation Army.

Those attending the meeting were Kosbab, Mrs. Beyer; directors Eve McDonald, Ina Piazza, Wayne Ducomb, Ellis Cuevas, and Theresa James.

Representing the Red Cross were Friloux, Mrs. Kergosien, Mrs. Ethel Weaver and Mrs. Bea Gallegos.

Hancock Grand Jury issues 18 indictments

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The July Hancock County Grand Jury this week handed down 18 indictments, including charges against a trio accused in an Oct. 10 armed robbery of Fahey's Drug Store in Bay St. Louis.

Circuit Clerk Henry Otis reported Wednesday morning, "The Grand Jury met from about 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday and filed 18 indictments."

"They then recessed until 9 a.m. July 31," Otis added.

As of Wednesday afternoon the circuit clerk's office released indictments of Johnny Merrifield for an alleged Jan. 10 rape

Fire inquiry delays Space Shuttle tests

Further testing of Space Shuttle engines at National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County has been delayed until a special investigating committee completes its report on a blaze which terminated last Saturday's testing firing.

"A date for the next test will not be set until the investigating committee makes a final report on its findings," Ms. Lisa Monti of NASA's public relations office here reported Wednesday.

In addition, Ms. Monti's office Wednesday released the following report from engineers at NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala. on Saturday's incident at NSTL:

"The three engine cluster of the Space Shuttle main propulsion system was tested for 106 seconds last Saturday.

"This firing was to have lasted 542 seconds, but was terminated because of fire indication in the aft compartment of the orbiter simulator.

"All engines and other aspects of the propulsion system apparently had functioned normally up to cutoff, and scheduled engine throttling and gimballing (a maneuver to change course) had been accomplished as planned during the 106 seconds.

"About 45 seconds of the firing was at 102 percent of rated thrust this being the first time for the cluster at this performance level.

"An inspection following the test revealed a small hole in the No. Three engine's fuel pre-burner which allowed burning gasses to escape into the area above the heat shield where the engine power heads are located.

"Damage was confined to one engine with no damage to the facility or the remainder of the test article.

"An investigating committee headed by Dr. Herman Thomason, deputy director of Marshall Center's Science and Engineering Directorate, has been appointed to determine the cause of the incident.

"The affected engine will probably be returned to the Rockwell International facility at Canoga Park, Calif. for inspection and repair."

Carter pleads guilty

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Charles Carter, former Hancock County Youth Court administrator, pled guilty Wednesday morning in Circuit Court to charges of misappropriation of $3,559 in restitution funds from the Youth Court.

Place Three Circuit Court Judge Costa N. Vlahos levied a two-year suspended sentence with probation, a $1,000 fine and restitution to the Youth Court.

"I will defer to the wisdom of the sheriff and sentence you to two years in the state correctional facility, and suspend your sentence and place you on two years probation with restitution. ...and a fine will be in order here," the judge said in sentencing the Bay St. Louis resident.

Boyce Holliman of Gulfport, Carter's attorney, requested that his client not be required to pay the fine due to Carter's difficulty in finding employment.

Vlahos replied, "I understand Carter did an outstanding job as Youth Court administrator..."

"...this felony conviction will do a great deal to hinder his employment and I'm sure this has been a trying experience," the circuit judge said.

"I'm sure there should be a $1,000 fine required to be paid over a 24-month period plus court costs and $3,559 restitution," Vlahos decided.

After court adjourned the judge said, "The whole thing was precipitated by his action and Carter pleaded guilty to a felony."

Holliman said Wednesday afternoon, "I thought the judge made a fair decision. I never question what a judge decides."

"I thought the district attorney and the judge were fair and thought the sentence was fair," Holliman stated.

"I'm sorry Mr. Carter got into this difficulty, but everyone is entitled to one slip. He and his wife are very nice people," the attorney added.

He was a native of Birmingham, Ala., born Dec. 14, 1927.

He earned a BA degree in basic sciences at the University of Mississippi in Oxford and was a graduate of University of Tennessee Dental School in Memphis.

He had lived in Bay St. Louis for the past 12 years and had previously practiced in Pascagoula.

Survivors include six sons, Martin G. Elchos, Samuel T. Elchos, Perry A. Elchos, Nicholas C. Elchos, Andrew D. Elchos and Vincent D. Elchos, all of Bay St. Louis; his mother, Mrs. Olympia Elchos of Vicksburg; a brother Dr. Theodore G. Elchos of Panama City, Fla.; two sisters Mrs. Katherine Apostle of Jackson and Mrs. Harry Tyrone of Atlanta.

MRS. MARY LaFONTE

Visitation for Mrs. Mary LaFontaine was Wednesday night at Edmond Fahey Funeral Home in Bay St. Louis.

A 3 p.m. Mass will be celebrated Thursday at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis, followed by burial in St. Mary's Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. LaFontaine, 85, widow of Forest J. LaFontaine, died Sunday, July 13, 1980 at her home, 414 Main St., Bay St. Louis.

The lifelong resident of Hancock County was born in Lakeshire and was a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

She is survived by a son, Charley J. LaFontaine of Hattiesburg; four daughters, Mrs. Jeanette Wiggins, Mrs. Elizabeth Estapa and Mrs. Zolla McCulloch, all of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Patricia Boyd of Bay St. Louis and formerly of Meridian; 13 grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren.

HERBERT McDONALD

Herbert Thomas McDonald, 70, Kiln, died Sunday July 13, 1980 at his residence.

A native of New Orleans, he was a retired purchasing agent for Equitable Equipment Co. He was a Catholic and a member of the New Orleans Athletic Club.

Friends called Tuesday at Riemann-Fahey Funeral Home, US-90 east, Bay St. Louis.

The funeral was at 10 a.m. Wednesday at the funeral home chapel following by burial in Bayou Coco Cemetery.

JOSEPH TOLLIVER III

Funeral arrangements are incomplete for Joseph Tolliver III, 26, of 414 Fletts Avenue in Pass Christian.

He died Wednesday, July 16, 1980 from injuries received in a Pass Christian automobile accident.

Pass man killed, Jaws slow gas leak

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A 26-year-old Pass Christian man was killed Wednesday morning in a one-car accident on that city's North Street.

The accident also resulted in a dangerous gas leak which took 1.5 hours to control using the Jaws of Life.

Pass Christian Police Chief Ed Alley identified the victim as Joseph Tolliver III, 26, of 414 Fletts Ave. in Pass Christian.

He was killed instantly when the automobile he was driving struck a tree just west of Dawn Avenue and North Street intersection, the chief said.

"Tolliver was traveling west on North Street and apparently attempted to pass another car headed west," Alley said.

"His tire apparently went off the blacktop on the south side of the road causing him to lose control of the vehicle," the police chief stated.

"The Tolliver vehicle went off into the woods south of North Street striking a gas meter and finally hit a tree with the right front fender," Alley explained.

Tolliver apparently was killed instantly, police said.

"He apparently was travelling at a high rate of speed," the police chief added.

Alley said the gas leak from the sheared meter had approximately 450 pounds pressure and took about 1.5 hours to control.

"If somebody would have lit a cigarette, that area would have been a disaster, but we had a lot of assistance which avoided any serious problems," Alley stated.

"We used the Jaws of Life to squeeze the top of the pipe to just about stop the leak until the gas company and the fire department were able to dig down to the main line to shut off a valve," Alley said.

"Mobile Medlc, the Pass Christian Fire Rescue Unit, Pass Christian Patrolman Glenn Grice and I responded to the accident," Alley reported.

The police chief said Tolliver's body was taken to Lockett's Funeral Home in Gulfport where funeral arrangements were incomplete Wednesday afternoon.

Diamondhead incidents under investigation

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson reported an armed robbery and a burglary in the county early Wednesday.

Peterson said an armed robbery at Gulf service station in Diamondhead and burglary of a safe at Diamondhead's Country Club are both under investigation by Deputy Alvin Ladner and Patrolman Nathan Hoda.

Peterson also reported that Herbert McDonald, 71, of Kiln was found dead at his residence by a neighbor on Monday morning.

Carl Banderet, Hancock coroner, held an inquest and death was ruled to be by self inflicted gunshot wound to the head, according to Peterson.

The death was investigated by Investigators Alvin Ladner and Delbert Seay.

READYHOUSE FOR SALE

Despite reports that homes are selling before the ink is dry on the listing sheet, those in the know say you still have to merchandise your house if you want it to sell quickly and get top dollar for it. A few inexpensive and simple improvements can go a long way in bringing the most that your house can claim on the market. Here's a few:

Repair any broken windows that you may have neglected. Inspect all screens for tears, holes or damages. Repair or replace what's needed. Replace all burned out bulbs and add extra light to brighten dark corners. Darkens, shrinks space and light expands it. Any missing or broken tiles in kitchen or bathroom? Repair or replace. Repaint or repaint cracked walls. Stop drips. Leaky faucets and plumbing problems should be corrected. Use special cleaning compounds to remove stains from toilets, bathtubs and sinks. Check ceilings for leak stains. Repair and repaint so prospective buyers don't think there is a permanent problem up above. Clean the vent hood in the kitchen.

From our experience, a clean, attractive house that gives a great first impression does not stay on the market very long.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 2332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

Power companies pledge leniency on abnormally high electric bills

Mississippi Southern District Public Service Commissioner Lynn Havens reports extreme hot weather during the past several weeks is causing increasingly high electricity usage and abnormally high electric bills. "I have personally contacted the two major power companies - Mississippi

Power & Light Company and Mississippi Power Company - which are regulated by this Commission, and have requested them to cooperate with their customers in easing any undue or unexpected hardships that may be created by this heatwave," Havens stated. "Both companies have assured me that they will work out payment arrangements where possible, with any customers who might have difficulty in paying their bills. "I have asked each company to encourage the levelized billing system which would let bills be averaged over a period of months.

"It is impossible at this time to determine the effects the extreme heat will have on those who have to cope with fixed incomes or tight budgets, but the companies have assured me that all means will be exhausted before any disruption of service is made," he stated. Havens added he feels confident an order by the Commission dealing with this subject will not be necessary due to the cooperation pledged by the companies. Havens also stated he would like to remind any consumer who might be experiencing difficulty that it is necessary to contact the company to make them aware of the situation so there will be no interruption of service.

FmHA ups rural home loans to $30,000

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) has raised the income limits for above-moderate-income rural home-ownership loan guarantees from $20,000 to $30,000 in the 48 contiguous states, according to Mark Hazard, FmHA Director for Mississippi.

Since the above-moderate-income guaranteed housing program for rural areas were implemented by Farmers Home at the beginning of Fiscal Year 1979, only individuals and families with an adjusted income of between $15,600, moderate-income ceiling, and $20,000 were eligible to participate in their Continental United States.

Under the program, Farmers Home guarantees repayment of up to 90 percent of loan made by commercial lenders for the construction of single-family dwelling in rural areas, including most towns of up to 20,000 population that are outside Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA).

"Many people in the expanded income range are currently unable to obtain mortgage credit, which effectively prevents them from enjoying safe, decent, and adequate housing," Hazard said.

"This increased financial assistance from Farmers Home will greatly enhance the quality of their lives."

By expanding the income eligibility, much more credit can be extended to the public, allowing more rural residents the benefit of homeownership, Hazard added.

The change became effective immediately in order to make this service available without delay. Following publications in the Federal Register on June 20, comments will be accepted on the change for sixty days, then the action will be reviewed to incorporate any necessary revisions.

Farmers Home has indicated there is adequate funding for this program during Fiscal Year 1980.

Jackson sites added to historical register

The Farish Street Neighborhood Historic District and the West Capitol Street Historic District have been entered in the National Register of Historic Places. Elbert R. Hilliard, director of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, was notified of the new Jackson listings by the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, Department of the Interior.

Historically, the Farish Street Neighborhood Historic District survives as an economically independent black community and is the largest community of this type in Mississippi.

In the 1890s the area became a segregated area for blacks. Numerous black professionals who lived in the area achieved state, local, and national prominence.

Located in a 125-acre area in downtown Jackson, the Farish Street Neighborhood Historic District includes 696 buildings. The area provides an excellent architectural record of vernacular building types from the 1860s to the 1940s.

Mainly commercial buildings consisting of brick buildings exist on the two main north-south arteries, Farish and Mill streets. North of Monument Street, the main east-west thoroughfare in Jackson, the buildings, which were constructed in the early twentieth century, though two houses may predate the Civil War.

Several architectural styles can be found in the district: creole cottages, Queen Anne style cottages, shotgun cottages, and Bungalow style cottages.

In 1957 a four lane road was built through the area separating parts of the community. Many of the frame houses now have asbestos siding. The district, however, maintains its quality and reflects its early twentieth century growth and development.

Boasting some of the finest Art Deco architecture in Mississippi, the West Capitol Street Historic District contains the earliest intact commercial facades in Jackson. The district is representative of Jackson's early commercial growth and development from the turn-of-the-century through the 1920s.

The West Capitol Street Historic District, which is primarily commercial, includes five architectural styles: Queen Anne, Sullivaneseque, Colonial Revival, Art Deco, and Spanish Colonial Revival. Most of the buildings are brick.

On the north side of Capitol Street, the main east-west thoroughfare in Jackson, the buildings, which were constructed by 1900, form a unified row of structures.

EDITORIAL

We are glad to see Governor William Winter open heat shelters throughout Mississippi for the elderly who do not have air conditioning in their homes.

We have heard a lot of talk about how hot it is, and we sure have felt the extreme temperatures like everyone else.

In talking with many of the old-timers of our communities, they all say this is the hottest extended period they can ever remember.

Persons in Hancock County can call 467-3763 for information about the center in Hancock County for the elderly without airconditioning.

It is our understanding that those without air conditioning will be able to stay at these shelters until the record heat wave subsides.

We all know the wind storm which passed through Tuesday evening cooled things down a bit, but indications are that it was only a temporary relief.

We would like to suggest that everyone limit their outdoor activities as much as possible, because there are far too many people in our state suffering heat strokes.

Bits 'n pieces

There still are many games of Little League Baseball to be played in both Bay St. Louis and Waveland with the District Two Little League All-Star tournament underway.

Games are scheduled through Saturday in the tournament co-sponsored by American Legion Posts No. 137 and 77.

Play starts at 5:30 p.m. at McDonald Field and also Elmwood Bourg Memorial Park, Waveland and we urge you to stop by and watch some of the action.

Remember, admission is free.

Hancock-Harrison, Central Harrison, Ocean Springs, Stone, Natchez and Hattiesburg are competing in a regional Babe Ruth tourney this week at St. Ann's ballpark in Dubuison. Games are slated at 5:30 and 7:30 p.m. each night through Saturday.

We overheard our sheriff and jailer discussing the lack of space at the county jail over the weekend.

In addition to being old and obsolete, the structure is also inadequate in space for the number of tenants from the County, Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

We hope to see some more positive action taken on the construction of a new jail in Hancock County.

We understand some action is being taken on the repairs of the Beach Road from Clermont Harbor to Bayou Caddy.

That is very good, but the areas with the most damage seem to be waiting for something or someone or forever for something to be done on restoration.

Someone told us the other day that our mule team concept is looking closer to reality everyday.

It has been many, many months since the serious damages started on the Beach Road, as a matter of fact over a year.

We get the indication no one seems to want to claim responsibility for the Beach road.

Some say it is the county's responsibility and others say it is the municipalities. We hope ownership is settled very soon.

No matter who has the responsibility for caring for the Beach Road, we feel they will have to have some sort of revenues to maintain it, even once it is completely restored.

News from the governor's office

Speaking in Greenwood last week, Governor William Winter insisted that Mississippi must significantly improve its efforts to sell and distribute the products grown by Mississippi farmers.

Winter proposed that the state "Chart in advance the process by which we grew agricultural products and by which we market and distribute these products."

The governor said that the ability to market and distribute agricultural goods is a crucial element in expanding the Mississippi economy.

He noted that an increasingly healthy agricultural economy would have a rippling effect which would benefit all segments of the state's economy.

Winter also said that efforts to attract and develop agriculturally related industry are a key to Mississippi's economic future.

On a similar theme, Winter said that high protein food stuffs will play an increasingly important role in Mississippi's economy, and he stressed the importance of more efficient use of the state's agricultural lands.

HOT JOB FOR THE WEATHER—Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana, left, and Captain Mike Willumitis take a breather early last Thursday morning after fighting house fire on Dunbar Avenue. Temperatures soaring the 100 degree mark with humidity running 70-80 reduced outdoor activities in our area. Those air conditioners feel so good. Next month we will be worrying about high utility bills.

Doctors List Tips On Keeping Cool

Unless you're one of the fortunate ones who is spending the summer in the high mountains, July is a hot month.

Some folks say: It's not the heat, it's the humidity. To some extent, this is true. But, humid or dry, most of the United States is hot in July and August.

Okay. So it's hot. What can we do about it?

In today's Age of Technology, we can get into air conditioned cool, that's what we can do about it. Or some of us can. But millions of Americans must survive the hot summer without air conditioning because of outdoor work or a nonair conditioned workplace or home.

There are some things you can do to be more comfortable, the American Medical Association points out.

Stay out of the sun as much as possible, especially during the middle of the day when rays are hottest. Wear light, loose clothing, the less the better. The women have an edge over the men in this respect. Drink more liquids than usual, but take extra salt only on advice of your physician.

Take a shower or dip in the pool once or twice a day to cool off. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Eat your regular diet.

Get up early in the morning to do your heavy work on the lawn or garden. Or work at dusk. Try to avoid heavy exertion during the hottest hours of the day.

You need exercise in summer as well as in winter, but don't overdo it, especially on extra hot days.

The more relaxed outdoor life of the summer months has many advantages to compensate for the heat. Stay relaxed and use common sense, and you can beat the heat — at least somewhat.

Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

We want to take this opportunity to thank you and the Echo for the fine support and publicity you have given our cheerleader squads. It really makes us feel good to receive so much community support.

Our camp session was a tremendous success. We tried to represent our school in a way which would bring credit to the community. Hopefully, we accomplished this.

We had a lot of fun, and we learned a great deal. Come see us at the first football game of the season.

Sincerely,

Washington report

BY CONGRESSMAN
TRENT LOFT

All of a sudden, there's a lot of talk in Washington about various tax cut plans. One political party says cut taxes now; the other says wait until next year.

Some people merely say it's an election year, and what's new about a tax cut in an election year. There's more to it than that.

We have an economy that is not in the best of health. I think politics should be put aside as much as possible so that we can look at what needs to be done for the economy now.

Economic and tax programs should not be based on what you hope will be happening in six months or a year. You've got to take action immediately if you expect any favorable impact in the next few months.

Six months ago, economists predicted that the economy was headed for recession, and that solutions could possibly be found in revamping the tax structure. Yet, no action was taken and every passing day means another delay in recovery.

Of all the tax cut plans floating around Capitol Hill, the one I like best would reduce income tax rates by 10 percent across-the-board and simplify business depreciation rates.

Frankly, a tax cut now is the only way to prevent the largest peacetime tax increase in history. Taxes will actually increase because of inflation by an estimated $99 billion in fiscal year 1981 unless Congress decides to roll them back.

The plan to reduce the tax rates would boost production incentives across-the-board by reversing the process by which inflation pushes taxpayers into higher brackets. The second component of the plan is the "10-5-3" accelerated depreciation program, which would allow faster writeoffs of buildings, machinery and automobiles.

One of the prime reasons for the outdated and uncompetitive state of too many American industries is the present tax system, which bases depreciation on the estimated useful life of equipment and plants.

Faster writeoffs could enable business to boost capital investment by as much as $5 billion and create 600,000 new jobs.

The creation of new jobs, after all, is the bottom line. Jobs create production, more savings, more investment and help stabilize the economy so that it can grow in the future.

The record shows that incentive-based tax cuts can increase revenues, and benefit all Americans.

MISSISSIPPI

News

Equalization of property tax assessments in Mississippi is an "important step toward attracting outside capital for investment in the state," according to the Mississippi Economic Council.

"A survey conducted by the Council among large investors within and outside the state indicates that the greatest deterrent to investment of outside capital in Mississippi is the state's instability of property tax assessments," said MEC Chairman Lewis F. Mallory Jr., a Starkville banker.

Mallory explained that the 1980 Constitution requires that "taxation shall be uniform and equal throughout the state," but testimony by county tax assessors in a 1979 Hinds County Chancery Court case revealed that this constitutional provision is largely ignored.

"An Economic Council study has revealed that the ratio of assessed value for taxation purposes to true or sales value of property ranges from a low average of seven percent to a high average of 28 percent in others," said Mallory.

"This system of inequities has been going on in some counties since the enactment of our present Constitution," he said.

"Outside capital investors desire assurances that property tax assessments will be as equitable as possible and so do local property owners. No one relishes the idea of paying taxes, but payment is more acceptable when the taxpayer has reasonable assurance his property is assessed fairly in comparison with others," said Mallory.

The State Supreme Court is presently considering an appeal by the State Tax Commission of the 1979 Chancery Court ruling requiring statewide uniform property appraisals and assessments by 1983.

This decision prompted the 1980 Legislature to enact a voluntary reappraisal program for counties as a step toward meeting the 1983 deadline.

"A lot of misunderstanding, emotionalism, and misinformation surround the property tax issue," said Mallory.

"Property taxation must be related to the costs of governmental services provided. Increasing pressure for more governmental services and the need for outside capital to help develop the state economically make the necessity for equity in assessments more obvious," he added.

Farm Bureau Federation plans new headquarters

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation has announced plans for a new headquarters office building in North Jackson that is to be occupied within two years.

Hugh M. Arant, president of the federation, said a 15-acre building site on Interstate 55 North has been purchased. It is located between the north Frontage Road and Ridgewood Road, immediately north of John Hargy Ford.

Barlow and Plunkett, architects, have been employed to design the building. The structure is to contain 150,000 square feet of office space, and parking is to be provided for 500 automobiles, Mr. Arant said.

The federation plans to award the building contract late in the fall, with occupancy of the building scheduled in late 1982.

The new building is to be about three times the size of the present building in downtown Jackson. About 300 people are employed at the present location.

A study of needs of the federation to the year 2,000 has projected that there will be 450 employees by that time, Mr. Arant said. A lack of space for expansion and crowded parking conditions in the present location were factors influencing the decision to build a new headquarters building, he said.

The new headquarters will house the offices of the Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation, the Mississippi Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance company, the Mississippi Farm Bureau Service Company, and the State Sales Services of Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Company and Southern Farm Bureau Casualty Insurance Company.

The present building is to be placed on the market at an early date, Mr. Arant said.

The Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation is a general farm organization serving 135,000 member families in the state.

ASCS Report

Pearl River and Hancock counties' farmers are encouraged to come by the county ASCS office and report their planted crop acreages.

Farmers must certify their crop acreages in order to be eligible for program benefits such as price support loans for certain crops, disaster benefits, proven yields and deficiency payments to which they might otherwise be ineligible if market prices become depressed.

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS Office said only about 100 farmers have been to the county office to certify.

July 15 is the final date for certifying and those who wait until the last week may encounter that inconvenience of waiting in line, he added.

During the past two or three years, fuel with which to operate farm equipment has become one of the major concerns of Pearl River and Hancock County Farmers.

Gennin says present concerns are more related to the price of fuel than for its availability.

Yet with the sky-rocketing costs of fuel and other necessary farming supplies, farmers are looking for every possible way to cut fuel cost. the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) in Washington is encouraging farmers across the country to share any ideas which they have come up with on saving fuel or cutting down on fuel cost.

Any farmers who have come up with fuel saving ideas are encouraged to report them to the Pearl River-Hancock County ASCS Office.

Gennin said all such ideas would be forwarded to the Washington office.

The ASCS director said that fuel saving ideas will be made available to farmers all across the country through ASCS information letters and other ways.

He emphasized that even a small savings which may seem insignificant to an individual farmer could result in significant fuel savings when multiplied by the thousands of farms across the country.

ASCS reminds farmers to check grain stored on their farm to make sure it is in good condition.

Insect infestations occur rapidly during warm weather and more frequently grain inspections may be necessary during summer months.

Gennin, says farmers are responsible for maintaining the quality and the quantity of the grain when it's in reserve or under loan.

He advises farmers to check bin surfaces—especially around the base, doors, aeration ducts and wall seams.

If there is a problem, farmers have an option of rotating the grain, after obtaining permission from the county ASCS office.

Wise use of coupons may help save money

Coupons are an effective way to cut expenditures at the grocery store. The average consumer can save 10 to 15 percent each week by using coupons wisely.

"Using coupons is easy once you get the hang of it. Remember certain key points and you can save with each trip to the supermarket," said Ann O. Rushing, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service marketing specialist.

Clip coupons wherever you see them. Read the food pages in your newspaper and clip coupons you might use. Take advantage of the coupon inserts distributed nationally in Sunday newspapers. Cut coupons out of magazines. Those extra minutes can save dollars at the checkout stand, she added.

"File your coupons in an organized manner. Some people like to file by product; others prefer a generic system. Whatever your preference, keep your coupons organized so they are accessible and convenient to use. You'll be surprised what an incentive that can be," Mrs. Rushing said.

"If possible, carry the coupons with you so they'll be available at all times, even for unexpected stops. If that's not possible, keep your coupons in a highly visible place—near your grocery list, for example—so you'll be sure to take them with you on your weekly supermarket jaunt," she said.

Never buy an item just because you have a coupon for it; buy it because you need it or use it. Coupons won't save you money if they are used indiscriminately. Coupons can enable you to try new products at a reduced cost. Remember: Coupons are still valid even when an item is on special. Used that way, coupons can increase your savings.

Shop comparatively, keeping in mind the quality and consistency of the products you purchase.

Waveland Fire Marshall Lee Ferrell said the fire department received one call about some wires being on fire on Nicholson Avenue.

The Bay St. Louis fire department answered a call to a house fire on Beyer Drive after the storm passed but it was out when the fire truck arrived, according to Captain Mike Willmuth.

Most officials noted how fast the storm made up and passed through the

No reports of injuries were reported, although a Bay Policeman experienced a close call when the tower at the courthouse collapsed, according to Sheriff Peterson.

Traffic signals at Dunbar Avenue and US-90 and Beach Boulevard were out for some time with police directing traffic.

USM Library Service program accredited

The Masters Degree program in Library Service at the University of Southern Mississippi has been accredited by the American Library Association.

The accreditation came four years and one day after the programs introduction at USM and is the first and only library education program of its kind to receive ALA accreditation in Mississippi.

The program is designed to train students as professionals in all aspects of the field. Students at USM receive instruction in traditional library administration and organization as well as in new technological areas which have become a vital part of public information services. According to Dr. Ovna Boshears, dean of Library Service at USM, the accreditation answers a need for better qualified librarians in Mississippi.

"A Governor's Conference on Libraries in Mississippi passed a resolution over a year ago calling for an accredited program such as ours," Boshears said. "This was the first time that a citizens group had endorsed the need for such a program. Now we have it."

In the past, students wishing to enter programs accredited by the ALA had to go outside the state. Now our graduates can go any where with the Masters in Library Service Library Service students who and have it recognized as a national standard of education," Boshears said. "There are also opportunities within the state which require ALA accreditation. For example, the Mississippi Library Commission requires ALA-degrees for many of their positions," he said.

EGG-TYPE

Hatcheries in the State set 186,000 eggs for egg-type chicks during the week ending June 28, 1980, 161 percent above the previous week but 41 percent below the 317,000 set during the comparable week a year ago. Hatch of egg-type chicks was 136,000, 32 percent above the previous week and 44 percent below the 245,000 hatched during the comparable week a year ago. In the five states that accounted for about 26 percent of the hatch of all egg-type chicks in the U.S. in 1979, settings during the week ending June 28, 1980, were down 24 percent and hatchings were down 6 percent from a year ago.

Credit use has pros cons,

EDITOR'S NOTE: In these times of rising inflation, many Mississippi families are finding it increasingly difficult to stretch income. Using credit is a tempting alternative and this fourth story of a seven-part series on Family Money Management tells readers how many families fail to use enough caution in using credit.

By JANE HONEYCUTT
Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

The "buck" stops with consumers when it comes to taking responsibility for controlling credit loads.

If you have a good credit rating in your name, keep it by paying your bills promptly," said Bonita Bridges, area consumer management specialist, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "Use credit cautiously."

Recently Mrs. Bridges met with a young couple who were having problems with their bills.

"When I asked them how they got a new loan, they replied, 'We didn't tell the lender about all of these bills,'" she said.

"Be honest with yourself and others. People don't look at credit like it is spending money, but it is. Some consumers believe that as long as a lender is willing to extend credit to them, it is safe to borrow. This just isn't so."

The management specialist said Americans owe $1.1 trillion in consumer debt—a $6,000 debt for each man, woman and child. Credit has helped us achieve the highest standard of living in the world. Americans overall have been good credit risks.

They have repaid debts even while increasing borrowing. Mrs. Bridges said the use of credit has advantages. Credit permits people to use a product while paying for it. It can help people meet financial emergencies. It can help people take advantage of sales and special offers.

If a person is paid irregularly or in widely fluctuating amounts, credit can help cash flow and make money management easier.

The MCES specialist said credit has just as many disadvantages. One is credit costs. The costs of credit fall into three categories: interest costs, less obvious financing costs (such as credit card membership fees) and—most often overlooked—opportunity costs.

"Opportunity costs don't represent out-of-pocket outlays," Mrs. Bridges said. "They result because using credit in one time period may limit opportunities to use it later if a person already has reached a credit limit on an account."

University plans NSTL advisement

The University of Southern Mississippi has scheduled an Advisement Information Day for NASA-NSTL on Thursday, Aug. 7.

USM officials from the Hattiesburg and Gulf Park campuses will be available from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. in the lobby area of Building 1100 to provide information about USM programs.

Information on admissions, degree programs and financial aid will be presented.

Faculty advisement will include the areas of computer science, business administration, geology, political science, math, geography, education and electronics and other areas of study.

The day is designed to provide comprehensive information ranging from one specific course to outlining entire degree programs to be offered on site at NSTL.

AAA offers hot weather car tips

High temperatures in Mississippi have brought about an increased number of service calls due to automobile engines overheating, reports the American Automobile Association.

And with predictions for more high temperatures during the next few weeks, AAA says that there are steps that can be taken to reduce the chance of this summer inconvenience.

"Overheating can be avoided," explains Peter Bonura, manager of the association's Emergency Road Service Department, "by performing preventative maintenance on your car's cooling and ignition system."

"A good place to start maintenance," he explains, "is by consulting your car owner's manual to get familiarized with the car's specific requirements."

Here are some of the items to check to avoid the inconveniences of overheating: —Reverse flush the radiator and engine block cooling system to clean out any sediment that may have collected as a result of corrosion and scaling.

—Check all connecting hoses.

—Check the car's thermostat.

—Loose belts for the fan, power steering and alternator should be tightened or if worn, replaced.

—Check the car's air conditioning system. Make sure the system has adequate Freon, and check belts for frays or cracks.

—If the car should become overheated, AAA offers the following tips:

—If you're stopped in traffic, turn on the heater fan, put the transmission in neutral and run the engine at a fast idle.

This helps remove the hot air from around the engine block and helps cool the radiator.

—If that method fails, pull off the road to a place of safety, raise the hood and wait for the engine to cool.

—If steam is rising, you probably have a radiator leak or a broken hose and are in more serious trouble. Pull off the road to a place and lift the hood. But do not attempt to lift the radiator cap of a boiling radiator. The sudden release of boiling liquid could cause severe burns. Also, never attempt to add cold water to a hot engine. Wait until the engine cools down before filling the radiator.

—And the best tip of all is to take a couple of minutes to check the fluid level in the radiator to make sure it is at the proper level and that there's enough coolant.

—Other fluid levels to check are engine oil, power steering fluid, brake fluid, transmission fluid and rear end lubrication.

—Another important safety item is tire pressure. Check information supplied on the glove compartment, door jams or in the owner's manual. If necessary, check with a tire distributor to determine proper inflation of tires in hot temperatures.

recommends that the Educational Needs Committee meet and make a report to the board.

However, members of the committee and its meeting time were not revealed. At a recess meeting last week the board tabled action after Trustee James Ginn questioned several items in the superintendent's budget proposal. Ginn also questioned several items in the proposed budget Monday night.

"At our last meeting I asked for two things, an interest figure for the district's investments and the amount of money in our student activities fund," Ginn asked McCulloch. The superintendent replied, "I know you mentioned this, but I didn't know you wanted those figures for this meeting."

"I believe the interest received was $3,000," McCulloch added.

"Do you remember, Mr. Caldwell," McCulloch asked of Assistant Superintendent Donald Caldwell.

Caldwell replied, "No." McCulloch stated, "We invested $100,000 and kept it in for six months. I believe it was $3,000, I'm not sure."

"On student activity funds I have all months up to date until June, but whether or not the secretary has finished typing this—I don't know," the superintendent said.

"We have two funds, school activity and student activity, but I don't have them up to date at this time," McCulloch reported.

Ginn asked, "When we budget the student activities fund, is this a net figure after income in the budget?" McCulloch replied, "The budget has nothing to do with student activity."

The superintendent explained how all proceeds from ball games, class photographs and revenue generating activities are placed into one fund. "That's how the auditors set it up," he added.

Ginn noted how much higher Bay student activity expenditures are per student compared to statewide averages and figures reported by other similar size school districts.

Ginn reported the statewide average student activity expenditure per student for the 1978-79 school year was $5.07.

The Bay District spent $19.74 per student during the same period.

"The only reason I mention this is because some schools may be reporting gross expenditures and some reporting a net figure, but as a board member I say we need to look at this and justify our figures in comparison to other schools in the state," Ginn explained.

Ginn also quoted state average figures and per student expenditures from similar size schools systems for classroom instruction, and operation and maintenance.

"These figures show we're spending more on student activities and less on instruction," Ginn stated.

McCulloch stated, "Budgetwise, last year our student activities expenditure was the same as this year and we have added volleyball."

"I think Athletic Director Wilmer Seymour and Mr. Caldwell will verify that and the student activity fund hasn't gone up from last year," McCulloch said.

Seymour reported, "Yes sir and we've added volleyball and awards to this year's budget."

McCulloch reported, "At one time it was illegal to give an award to a student, but this has changed."

Ginn stated, "The only thing I'm saying is the Columbus school system, which should have at least a fair school system, spent much less per student on student activities."

"Per student we're spending $13 more than they are. This should be a caution light to us," Ginn said.

"We should examine Columbus and other school districts throughout the state," Ginn suggested.

"Can we be offering that much more in student activities? I don't believe we are," Ginn stated.

"Could it be these schools are accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and they don't have elementary sports," Ginn asked.

Before Ginn received a reply, School Board Member Walter Turcott called for the executive session.

After the Monday meeting, when Board President Gex was asked how questions raised by Ginn regarding certain budget items were resolved, she replied, "The total amounts in the budget were approved by the board."

In a related matter, the board of trustees asked McCulloch to submit a job description with necessary qualifications and salary for a district purchasing and finance clerk.

McCulloch recommended that the board hire a purchasing and finance clerk, but the board gave the superintendent permission to seek prospects for the job pending receipt of the job description.

The superintendent explained, "This clerk could give the board a month-by-month report on finances. Most of this information is hard to get because I don't have any help."

"With inflation going up he could buy in bulk, would have direct contact with principals at all times and could go into other school districts to study finances and purchasing," McCulloch explained.

"This would also give me more time to go into the school district and keep me from being tied down to this office," the superintendent added.

Board President Gex asked, "Does that mean we are going to the standard purchase order for the cafeteria?"

McCulloch replied, "We're going in that direction already."

Ginn stated, "I think your idea is excellent and I had this to bring up that we hire a person like this."

"I'll make a motion to get the ball rolling in this direction, but I would like a complete job description for the purchasing agent position," Ginn requested.

"I think we need inventory control and proper accounting of assets. I'd like job qualifications and a salary range specified, but I think your idea is excellent," Ginn said.

McCulloch stated, "I don't think the purchasing part would be enough of a job, but with the finance part added it would be."

Ginn reiterated, "Yes, but are we going to define his duties... and what can we expect for a salary range?"

Trustee Maurice Singleton asked the superintendent, "Have you checked into a salary for this position?"

McCulloch replied, "Yes sir, I have." Singleton also asked if the clerk would control distribution of purchased goods to the various schools.

McCulloch replied, "The purchasing aspect of the job would make sure we got the best goods for the dollar. We're not large enough to have a central warehouse."

Board President Gex said, "Inventory control would go along with central purchasing."

Singleton explained, "If supplies go to each school and each school gets what they want, there's no control."

Ginn said, "There would be some control..."

Singleton reported, "I buy for the test site and based on flow space the test site's budget isn't as much as ours."

School board refuses cheerleaders shoe bill

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Board of Trustees rejected payment of a bill for junior high cheerleader's shoes at a regular meeting Monday night.

The $417 bill for 18 pairs of shoes from the Sportsman's Corner, Inc. of Gulfport was deleted from the approved docket after Trustee James Ginn questioned the bill.

Athletic Director Wilmer Seymour professed to have no knowledge of the purchase.

Upon reviewing the docket, Ginn asked Superintendent of Education J.D. McCulloch, "On inventories issued out to athletes we're purchasing shoes and socks for cheerleaders. Are athletes using these items for their own use?"

McCulloch replied, "They're not suppose to, they check them out and check them back in at the end of the year."

Seymour explained, "Most socks are worn out at the end of the school year, but game socks are checked back in." "Shoes are checked back in, but the supporters are usually worn out too," Seymour added.

Ginn asked, "But the shoes are checked back in?"

The athletic director replied, "Yes." Ginn stated, "Well, basketball and tennis shoes could be put to personal use."

Seymour reported, "We buy one pair of shoes for each boy. Usually they have to buy another pair of shoes themselves before the end of the year."

"We buy Converse shoes, but if a student wants a fancier shoe they have to buy these on their own," Seymour said.

"The bid price on Converse is usually about $15 and these are medium quality shoes," Seymour added.

Trustee Betty Diboll said, "I can speak for our basketball player. His toes are usually hanging out of his shoes by the end of the year."

Seymour stated, "We don't buy cheerleader shoes."

Ginn reported, "We just received a bill for the junior high school cheerleaders."

Seymour replied, "They may have this year, but I've always bought shoes for my own girls."

Ginn said, "We have a $417 bill for 18 pairs of shoes for the junior high cheerleaders."

"I think we need to establish a policy, because if we approve these cheerleader shoes, we will be setting a precedent," Ginn stated.

"I'd like your opinion," Ginn asked McCulloch.

McCulloch replied, "I'd like to talk to Bay Junior High School Principal W.J. Cameron. Before I make a statement I'd like to talk to him."

Ginn said, "I can't vote for this." Trustee Walter Turcott asked, "The motion was to pay the (expletive deleted) docket."

The board unanimously voted against docket approval.

Board President Virginia Gex suggested, "We need to do something about paying the other bills omitting item No. 1610 for the cheerleader shoes."

The board of trustees then unanimously approved the budget except for No. 1610.

In addition to the docket, the board also approved a $75 bill from August Seafide.

Board President Gex explained, "The bill is for five hours bulldozer work at $15 per hour at the school's dump site behind the baseball field."

Trustee Maurice Singleton asked, "What is he doing there?"

McCulloch said, "This is something we have to do every three years or so to push some debris out of the way."

School officials reject illegal bid

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A bid submitted by Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District employees to build a trophy case was accepted, ruled illegal, then rejected at a Monday Board of Trustees' meeting.

Bids for a new trophy case at Bay Junior High School were submitted by Mark Lott of Poplarville at $1,200, and by Bay Senior High Assistant Principal Frank Ladner and Industrial Arts Director Billy Power at $885.

After studying the bids, the board initially accepted the low bid.

The rejection came after Board Attorney Lucien Gex informed the board in executive session that school personnel could not bid on district contracts.

After an executive session called during a discussion of the proposed 1980-81 budget, Board President Virginia Gex stated, "We have been advised by our attorney that we can not award a bid to school personnel."

Regarding the district's detention policy, the board approved Bay High School Principal Robert Magee's recommendation changing the policy for Saturday school for unexcused absences by students from mandatory to optional.

Magee explained, "We are mostly changing wording where it says 'shall' to 'may'."

"But if a student doesn't want to come we give him a zero," the principal said.

"We've had problems with making this mandatory. Many times students aren't doing anything on these Saturdays," Magee stated.

"We feel if a youngster misses school he should have an opportunity to make up the work he missed," Magee said.

Board President Gex asked, "How many students didn't meet on Saturday?"

Magee replied, "None, because we didn't let them, but about five percent didn't make up the work."

Ginn asked, "Do you think Saturday school should be cut out?"

Magee replied, "No sir, a student should have an opportunity to make up work he missed."

Trustee Walter Turcott asked, "What are most of the reasons students are suspended?"

Magee said, "Smoking."

In other business, at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at the superintendent of education's office at Bay Senior High, the board:

—Accepted a recommendation by Superintendent of Education J.D. McCulloch to increase employee travel allowance from 10-cents per mile to 20-cents per mile;

—Approved employing Mrs. Catherine Marble as a faculty member;

—Authorized the superintendent to sign a Public Law 874 application and other applications for the 1980 school term.

Circuit Clerk Henry Otis reported other actions in Circuit Court this week included:

—Arraignment of Gregory Fuisch after executing a waiver of indictment for possession of marijuana. A sentence of three years in the state penitentiary was waived for payment of a $1,500 fine plus attorney and court fees at a rate of $50 per week.

—Accepted a guilty plea from Paul Wayne Kingston and Ricky Allen Mitchell to charges of burglary of a residence. Sentencing was deferred pending a pre-sentence report by the Mississippi Department of Corrections; —Accepted a guilty plea from Frank Jones to charges of burglary of a residence. Sentencing was deferred pending a pre-sentence report;

—Accepted a guilty plea from Stanley Nelson Delle on charges of burglary. He was given a suspended five-year sentence in the state penitentiary, and placed on five years probation with a $1,000 fine, $100 restitution and payment of court costs;

—Continued case of Elijah A. Bellino to Oct. 15.

WATER TOWERS SPRING UP—The Kiln Water and Fire Protection District recently erected its 85,000 gallon water tank, top photo, behind the Farm-Bureau Insurance office at Cuevas Junction just north of Kiln. Crews are now painting a checkerboard pattern on the tank for better visibility for aircraft approaching Stennis International Airport. Water District Manager Vernon (Dutch) Haas said Monday the Kiln water system should be completed by Sept. 15 and the water tank will be able to supply the proposed Rocky Hill-Firetower Road extension. South of Kiln, a 50,000 gallon water tank, bottom photo, is being erected in Jourdan River Shores Subdivision. Buddy Mullins at Guaranty Bank and Trust's Pass Christian office said Guaranty Utilities is building the water tower "which will complete the final phase of the subdivision's water system." Mullins said the water tank should be in service by the end of the summer and in an emergency the tank can support the Kiln water system. (Staff photos by Wayne Dittcomb Jr.)

Pancakes speak a universal language from the paper thin, delicate French crepes to the Russian blinis; from the tortillas of Old Mexico to the Chinese egg rolls, hearty country pancakes or flapjacks to the extra thick and hearty Wicklow pancakes of Ireland.

You can make them from scratch or from a mix—there isn't much you can't do 'round the clock with pancakes. They are also an excellent stretcher making use of small quantities of meat, seafood, chicken, etc. to turn out a gourmet meal without mortgaging the old homestead.

Crepes, thin and delicate, are my favorite pancake.

To me, the first essential in making crepes is my heavy cast iron skillet, as you need a strong pan to cook the crepes quickly without burning them—though other cooks prefer special crepe pans or other skillets.

Crepes are versatile—you can make them ahead and store them in the refrigerator, stacked between paper toweling or waxed paper, covered, until you're ready to fill them and roll them.

You can keep a dozen or so in the freezer, in assorted sizes, to use for appetizers, main course or dessert when the mood strikes you. Here's the basic recipe for CREPES

1 Cup Flour
1 1/2 cups milk (approx.)
3 eggs
Pinch salt
4 Tblsp. melted butter

I still follow the old fashioned way—Place the cup of flour in a large bowl and make a hole or well in the center. In this place the eggs, whole, a pinch of salt and about a half cup of the milk. Starting from the center, beat well till all the flour is absorbed, and the batter is smooth. Thin it down with enough more milk to give the consistency of light cream.

At this point, if possible—let the batter rest for a couple of hours, or overnight, in the refrigerator—it sets better. If it's too thick, thin it down with a little more milk to get it back to the consistency of cream.

Melt the four tablespoons of butter in your skillet or special pan and stir into the batter. Then wipe the pan with a paper towel and heat until a drop of water bounces off.

Pour in about three or four tablespoons of batter, tilt the skillet immediately this way and that so the bottom is covered with a thin layer and the batter bubbles and gives a lacy effect. When the top seems dry, turn and do the other side (I like mine cooked on both sides).

If your batter's too thick and sticks, scrape the mess off, pour in a bit of melted butter and start again; If it's too thin and the crepe shreds when you turn it, beat an extra egg into the remaining batter (please don't add flour, that'll only make it lumpy.)

Continue till you've cooked 'em all—then enjoy them plain with butter and confectioner's sugar or jam or what have you, or stuff them with a filling, or whatever you want.

They're ideal party food, will keep in a very low oven for at least an hour after you've made them, can be reheated, and so on. Sometimes I use them as cups—I fit cooked crepes into greased muffin pans, then fill with cheese mixtures, creamed chicken or seafood, etc.

I also like to make them silver dollar size, spread with cheese spread and roll up, for quick hors d'oeuvres.

And, at this time of year, I especially like to spoon over each cooked crepe a mixture of sliced peaches mixed with whipped cream with a touch of honey, then roll the crepes, and top with additional peaches for a heavenly dessert. But—use your imagination. (Copyright, 1980, Katharine D.M. Caire).

USDA issues rules on donated food

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will keep a closer watch on donated foods that are commercially processed or repackaged for state agencies or large school districts under rules proposed in Washington.

"Since the volume of USDA foods being processed has increased over the past few years, we need more specific controls to make sure that schools are getting the full benefit of the foods that we give them," said Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman.

USDA buys foods under various farm-support programs and distributes them for use in schools, non-profit institutions and elderly nutrition and other feeding programs.

Since the early 1970's, increased processing has helped expand donated-food use from a limited number of commodities to a broad array of products processed from commodities.

For example, donated flour might be processed into bread or pizza crusts. USDA estimates that today as much as one-fifth of donated foods are processed or repackaged before they are used.

USDA's Office of the Inspector General reported in February 1979 that tighter controls were needed on processed donated foods. The proposed regulations respond to the problems pointed out in this audit report, Foreman said.

For example, under the proposal, certain commercial

Carey offers music course

A workshop for "anyone who has ever had any experience in music" is being offered this summer by the School of Music, William Carey College, Hattiesburg. The workshop will emphasize the basics of reading music.

"The week-long course has been planned so that anyone who has sung in a choir, had some music lessons, or plays or sings 'by ear' can benefit," remarked Dr. John Morgan, dean of the school.

The course will begin on July 28 and continue through August 1. Classes will meet daily from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Evening activities will include concerts, cookouts, swimming and other recreation.

Designed as an introduction to music reading, the course will undertake the study of key signatures, primary rhythms and chords, basic listening, writing, composing, playing and singing. It may be taken as a first-level course in music reading, as a "refresher"

Governor to crown Miss Hospitality

Mississippi's 1980 Miss Hospitality will be crowned in the Coast Coliseum Saturday, according to George Williams, director, Division of Tourism.

A panel of three judges will select one young lady from among 78 contestants from all over Mississippi to represent the state at official functions, plant openings, travel shows and other activities throughout the state, nation and in foreign countries.

The Miss Hospitality program, now in its 31st year, is sponsored by the Mississippi Department of Economic Development.

Pageant judges this year include J. Richard Barton, senior division vice president, advertising and marketing, United Inns Inc., owners and operators of Holiday Inn Corp., Memphis; Betty Blake, former president of Delta Queen Steamboat Co. and now head of Betty Blake & Company, a public relations and marketing consulting firm, Cincinnati; and J. William Hudson, vice president, industry and government affairs, Travel Industry Association, Washington, D.C.

Governor William Winter and reigning Miss Hospitality Shane Pittman will crown the new winner in the Coliseum in Biloxi.

Ceremonies begin at 8 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

Save Vegetables

The scorching, dry weather may cause you to lose both yields and quality of garden vegetables. Gardens need one or two inches of water a week when rain is scarce. Water slowly to prevent puddling, but apply enough at each watering to wet the soil several inches deep.

If you use insecticides on garden bugs, be sure to wait the recommended length of time between the last application and harvest. The waiting period between the final insecticide application and harvest ranges from the same day to more than a month, depending on the insecticide and vegetable. To protect your health, read and follow label directions.

Plant fall tomatoes in early July. Set out transplants in early July for tomatoes that will produce until the first frost.

If you have taken good care of your spring tomato plants, those plants will continue to produce through summer and fall.

If you must set out transplants for fall tomatoes, try to harden the transplants before putting them in the garden. The summer heat and dry soil will create problems if plants are not hardened.

Water the soil and much the area where you plan to put the transplants. Wait a few days setting out new plants. Then, put the "mulch" around the plants to help protect them from the sun.

Roses

With the proper care, roses will produce beautiful blooms from spring until fall. Roses need regular disease and insect control during the summer. A weekly application of insecticide to control leaf-eating insects, insecticides to control aphids and mites and a fungicide to control Blackspot diseases and common mildew.

These materials are in spray and dust forms, but sprays are usually easier to apply to rose plants. Also, some insects such as mites and aphids are found often beneath the foliage and are difficult to reach without dust applications.

Lime Pastures

This is the slack season for most lime on your pastures. Lime pastures for weather it is a good time for spreading lime on your pastures. Lime pastures for temporary grazing before fallowing begins.

If the area is to be flat broken and then disked during the summer, apply the recommended amount of lime between flat breaking and disking. This will allow the lime to be mixed good with the soil. Lime is a must if your pH is below 5.8.

If a soil test had not been made on your garden or field, this should be done now. Then you would know what your pH was and the proper amount of lime and fertilizer to apply.

Soil testing is a free service, just bring a pint of soil from each location you would like to check to the County Extension Office. I will do the mailing to the State Lab and get your results. Don't wait, do it now.

Cultivate Correctly

How you cultivate soybeans this summer may affect yields this fall. Cultivating too frequently and too deeply can damage the root system. Deep, close cultivation can throw untreated soil with a fresh source of weed seed into the drill area. "Dirtling" soybeans also can cause more problems with diseases such as southern blight.

To make cultivation most effective and least harmful, plow flat, shallow and in the row middle. Use as little cultivation as possible after soybeans begin to bloom and shade middles.

WEEKLY BROILERS, WEEK ENDING JULY 5

BROILER-TYPE

Hatcheries in the State set 6,471,000 eggs for broiler chicks during the week ending July 5, 1980, 3 percent below the previous week and 1 percent below the corresponding week a year ago.

There were 5,794,000 broiler chicks placed on Mississippi farms during the week ending July 5, 1980, 5 percent below the previous week and virtually unchanged from the corresponding week a year earlier.

Cumulative placements for 1980 are 161,108,000 broiler chicks - 3 percent above a year earlier.

EGG-TYPE

Hatcheries in the State set 252,000 eggs for egg-type chicks during the week ending July 5, 1980, 35 percent above the previous week and the same as the 252,000 set during the comparable week a year ago. Hatch of egg-type chicks was 95,000, 30 percent below the previous week and 58 percent below the 228,000 hatched during the comparable week a year ago.

In the five states that accounted for about 23 percent of the hatch of all egg-type chicks in the U.S. in 1979, settings during the week ending July 5, 1980, were down 8 percent and hatchings were down 30 percent from a year ago.

The Garden Island Community Association, a civic improvement organization established by property owners in Hancock County's Shoreline Estates Subdivision, held its first official meeting July 5, in the "Civic Room" of the Gulf National Bank in Bay St. Louis.

Officers were elected, study committees formed, dues assessed, bylaws proposed, and community goals and needs were discussed.

New officers are Leslie A. Page, Riverview Drive, president; Donald Simoneaux, Skyline Drive, vice president, and Mrs. Charlotte DeBoer, Riverview Drive, treasurer.

Various committees were appointed to study ways to achieve community goals and resolve problems. Annual dues of $12 per property, entitling both owner and spouse to voting memberships, were voted.

Formation of the association was initiated by L.A. Page and W.B. Aicklin for the purpose of uniting subdivision property owners in seeking road improvements, additional community security, fire hazard control measures, minimal lot maintenance by owners, and adherence to the subdivision's restrictive covenants by owners.

Major concerns of the owners were unimproved roads, poor drainage, fire hazards due to failure of non-resident owners to clear unimproved lots periodically, speeding by autos on subdivision roads and by boats on subdivision canals, and the illegal influx of non-standard housing such as unanchored trailers and mobile homes.

Steps to control these problems were discussed.

To date 80 persons owing 48 properties in the Subdivision have signed up with the association as charter members. The next meeting of the group will be 2 p.m. Sunday, August 3, at the Gulf National Bank.

Wildlife coping with heat better than human friends

Apparently the hot, humid weather that has been such a bother to humans has not had the same effect on many of the Mississippi's wildlife populations, according to the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Agency biologists say that most birds like dove, quail and song birds, along with small mammals like squirrel, raccoon, fox and bobcat get enough moisture from succulent vegetation to satisfy daily moisture requirement, wildlife coordinator Edsel Cliburn said.

"Most animals like deer or turkey that need free standing water are mobile enough to get it. In Mississippi, unlike some states, water for wildlife has never been a really severe problem. It has never been an important factor in wildlife population expansion."

Cliburn explained that in some instances the extended period of dry weather at this time of year may be beneficial to some wildlife species.

"This long period of dry weather has not been harmful to nesting mourning doves across the state that we can determine. And there is a lot of nesting going on now."

Heavy rains and winds can be destructive by blowing eggs out of dove nests and even drowning young birds, he said. "We haven't had much of this in the last month. So maybe this will be a positive factor toward a good nesting year for doves."

Stieffel crew wins Sears Cup Area D Championship

Bay Waveland Yacht Club's Junior Team won the Area D Championship, the semi-finals of the United States Junior Sailing Championship for the Sears Cup, racing in Thistles at Lake Lanier Sailing Club at Atlanta GA during the past weekend.

Skipper Dennis Stieffel and crew Janet Gordon and Ford Gaudin had their hands full as they set foot in the Thistles for the first time to compete against the other experienced Thistle sailors.

Make Turner, representing Lake Lanier Sailing Club, started the Six Race Round Robin series with two firsts in the only two races that could be sailed the first day due to an extremely light breeze which came up in late afternoon.

Stieffel fought his way to a close second, with Scot Sonnier of Southern Yacht Club, New Orleans, in third.

On Sunday the weather was more cooperative with breeze all day, and the long Olympic courses offered the competitors all the challenge and opportunity they wanted.

Stieffel won the first three races Sunday, as his crew became more familiar with the boats and perfected their spinnaker work and roll tacks, winning by increasingly large margins, over three minutes in the fifth race.

Sonnier moved out to an early lead in the final race as Turner and Stieffel battled it out, exchanging second and third positions down the spinnaker legs and a busy tacking duel up the final beat.

Turner crossed the line a few seconds ahead of Stieffel, but the BWYC team had secured their lead for the semi-finals victory.

Stieffel, Gordon and Gaudin will represent Area D, which includes Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and North Carolina, in the Sears Cup Finals at Cleveland Yachting Club, Rocky River, Ohio, August 16-21, which will be an eight race around robin series sailed in Thistles.

Bay Senior, Junior High take cheering honors

The Bay Senior and Junior High School cheerleaders came home with top honors from a National Cheerleader Association Camp last week at Perkinston.

The Bay High cheerleaders won an Award of Excellence, given at each camp session by the NCA staff to the squad which has excelled in all phases of camp work.

They received all superiors for the week, and brought home a Spirit Stick.

They also qualified for a Super Star ribbon.

The Bay Junior High cheerleaders were one of seven squads to be nominated for the Award of Excellence. The Junior Tigers also received superior ratings and a Spirit Stick on each day of camp.

They were selected to receive the Spirit Award, which is voted on by all squads at camp.

They received a trophy for the best junior high squad on campus, and were recipients of the Super Star Ribbon.

Both squads will be part of a feature which will appear in an upcoming issue of MEGAPHONE, a national publication of the NCA.

The Bay Senior High Cheerleaders include Christie Favre and Zeina Baker, co-captains; Kim Breland, Beth

Killeen takes Mallory preliminaries at BWYC

By RANDY PONDER

Skipper Daniel B. Killeen of New Orleans Southern Yacht Club, took first place in four out of six races this past weekend at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, on his way to winning the North American Area D Championship of the Clifford D. Mallory Cup.

Killeen won the first three races held Saturday, finishing third in the fourth and final event of the day. On Sunday, the New Orleans sailor won one race and placed fourth in the other to clinch the title.

Daniel will advance to the national championships to be held Sept. 24-27 at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Killeen will compete against the winners of seven other area meets which were staged in different parts of the nation at the same time the Area D Championships were held.

Local favorite Marc Eagan of Bay St. Louis, representing the Ocean Springs Yacht Club, finished second in the prestigious event. Marc was the winner of the fourth race and finished second in three others.

The results of all the races are as follows: FIRST RACE: 1. Daniel B. Killeen, Southern Yacht Club, New Orleans; 2. Marc Eagan, Ocean Springs Yacht Club; 3. Andy Russell, Lake Norman Yacht Club, Gastonia, N.C.; 4. Michael Robertson, St. Petersburg Yacht Club, Fla.; 5. James Hensley, Birmingham Sailing Club, Ala.; and 6. Jules Ivester of Charleston, S.C.

SECOND RACE: 1. Killeen; 2. Robertson; 3. Eagan; 4. Russell; 5. Hensley; and 6. Ivester.

Brief

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Brother Pascal, SSC tennis coach, is now seeking players to participate in a 'B' flight tennis tournament. Persons interested should call 467-6066.

Junior Lipton Regatta slated at Yacht Club

The Junior Lipton Regatta will be sailed Saturday and Sunday at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

BWYC earned the right to host the regatta last year in competition at St. Andrew's Bay Yacht Club in Panama City, Fla., by winning the regatta there.

The skippers of last year's winning team were Dennis Stieffel, Elizabeth Santa Cruz, and Kathryn Boh.

The Junior Lipton Regatta

THIRD RACE: 1. Killeen; 2. Robertson; 3. Eagan; 4. Hensley; 5. Ivester; and 6. Russell.

FOURTH RACE: 1. Eagan; 2. Russell; 3. Killeen; 4. Robertson; 5. Hensley; and 6. Ivester (disqualified).

FIFTH RACE: 1. Killeen; 2. Eagan; 3. Hensley; 4. Robertson; 5. Russell; and 6. Ivester (disqualified).

SIXTH RACE: 1. Robertson; 2. Eagan; 3. Hensley; 4. Killeen; 5. Russell; and 6. Ivester (disqualified).

FINAL POINT STANDINGS: 1. Killeen, 10 points; 2. Eagan, 12 1/2; 3. Robertson, 16 1/2; 4. Russell, 23; 5. Hensley, 25; and 6. Ivester, 38.

Lipton Doubles slated at SSC

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Lipton Ice Tea Mixed Doubles Championships in tennis will be held at the St. Stanislaus courts Saturday, July 26, according to Brother Pascal.

Persons entering the mixed doubles play must be amateurs, no restrictions on age.

Registrations can be made by calling Mrs. Hilda Borg, 255-1299 or Brother Pascal at St. Stanislaus, 467-9057.

Registrations must be before Thursday July 24. To make it easier for local winners, they will advance to 128 nearby, one-day Sectional Tournaments.

Sectional winners will go to one-day Regional Playoffs in 32 major markets.

The 32 Regional winning teams are then sent, each with spouse or friend - all expenses paid - to the National Finals, September 10 to 14, at Sawgrass, resort community in Florida as part of the $175,000 Lipton World of Doubles.

The Mixed Doubles champion team goes to Monaco - all expenses paid - to compete in a round robin tournament against teams from other countries.

Local ladies take Area D Adams Cup

Judy McKinney, with her crew Amy Chapman and Charlotte Gordon all of Bay-Waveland Yacht Club, won the Area D Championships for the Semi-Finals of the U.S. Women's Sailing Championships for the Adams Cup.

McKinney displayed her superior abilities in boat handling and tactics through the tricky currents of the St. John's River at Jacksonville, Fla. by winning five firsts and a second in the six boat round series in Flying Scots last week-end.

Southern Yacht Club in New Orleans will host the Adams Finals August 16-21 on Lake Ponchartrain in an eight-boat round robin series which will also be sailed in Flying Scots.

McKinney, Chapman, and Gordon will represent Area D in the finals against seven other top women sailors in the United States.

The hiking Warriners--Norman, Lou, Mike and Andy

Crosscountry hikers escape heat through Bay hospitality

BY MARY LOU KOCH
Instructor, OLA
Journalism Dept.

"Guess who's coming to dinner?" blurted my daughter Kathie in an excited voice as she called from work at Channel 13 television in Biloxi, Friday, July 11.

"Mother, I've just interviewed the most fantastic family who are walking across the United States. They'll be reaching Bay St. Louis this evening, so I invited them home for dinner and to spend the night. It's ok, isn't it?" Kathie's obvious excitement was enough to let me know we had an unusual experience in store for us. Michael, Warriner, his wife, Lou, and their two ten-year-old sons, Norman and Andy, arrived about 6 p.m. after having completed their 28th day of walking from Gainesville, Fla. enroute to Oregon.

Within moments the backpacks were thrown aside and the thirsty travelers began replenishing the liquid lost in the day's 100 degree walk.

After refreshing showers, the four bare-foot guests were ready to relax and enjoy the evening.

"I hope you won't mind if we go bare-foot," Mike asked. "This is our greatest luxury when we finish the day's hike."

Each family member wears jogging shoes furnished by a shoe manufacturing company, their sponsor.

"We have a list of distributors. When one pair wears out, we just call in and another pair is waiting for us at the next town," Mike explained.

The family soon hopes to complete sponsorship with a fast food chain also.

"We love hamburgers and eat lots of them," young Norman chimed in.

The boys, however, didn't have hamburgers for dinner this time. They watched wide-eyed as Kathie showed how to eat a boiled crab.

"Another first to add to our memory book today. We've never eaten crab before," Mike explained.

The memory book was the subject of the evening's conversation as Lou and Mike shared the highlights of each day.

"Mike and I write every day. Just recently the boys have decided it's a good idea so they each bought a small notebook this week to record their feelings as we travel," Lou explained.

These memory books will be invaluable when the journey is over, for the Warriners intend to write a book about their trek across the country.

Lou, an elementary music teacher, is also taping children's songs as they progress from town to town, to be used later in a music text.

The Warriners are a singing crew. When I asked if they ever got bored as they walked, Lou answered, "We sing when we begin to feel a lull. Mike keeps us going because he makes up songs as we trudge along, sometimes crazy and sometimes clever. Before we know it, we are all laughing."

As they make their way across the land, each family member carries a backpack containing all his possessions to be used the next 12-14 months - clothes, tents, sleeping bags, food, parasols, and lots of band-aids for blisters on the feet.

The boys' packs weigh about 25 pounds, Lou's about 30, and Mike's tops the scales at more than 60 pounds.

In the fall, school books will be added to the packs as the boys hike on good days and complete sixth grade requirements on stormy days under the supervision of certified teacher, Lou.

The luxury of beds thrilled our four visitors since they usually sleep in their tents on sleeping bags.

"If we can't find a place to camp, or if we see a tempting motel, we occasionally break down and rent a room. But you can be sure we don't leave the next day until the listed departure time. The break in routine is refreshing for all of us," Mike continued.

"What has impressed you most so far?" I asked.

"People!" they both said simultaneously. "We have met the greatest people," Mike explained. "Some invite us into their homes for a meal; others insist we spend the night. Several families have followed our progress for several days, waving as they go by."

Farewell time came Saturday morning. The Warriners had been with us only 15 hours, but we felt we'd been friends for years. We offered to relieve them of their heavy packs for awhile so they rode with Kathie to the corner of US-90 and Beach Boulevard where they had turned south to come to our home.

Three hours later we hoisted a cooler packed with ice and cokes into the car beside the heavy packs and drove off to find our friends. It took only 15 minutes and 10.2 miles of driving to find four thirsty hikers who were glad to see the Kochs, and even happier to have the chilled cokes.

After a relaxing break and "cool-down" under large parasols, the Warriners strapped their packs to their backs, waved a final farewell, and headed toward Slidell and, as Mike put it, "new adventures."

All-star action continues in Bay-Waveland thru Sat.

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Action in the District Two Little League all-star baseball tournament will be continued through Saturday at McDonald Field, Bay St. Louis and Elmwood, Bourgeois Memorial Park, Waveland.

Rain delayed the action on Tuesday night cancelling four games of the double elimination district tournament sponsored by Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 and Bourgeois-Steffel-Ray American Legion Post No. 77.

The eight teams in the local tournament are Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Central Harrison, Stone County, Orange Grove, Hancock-Harrison, Hattiesburg and Woolmark.

In Monday's action, Bay St. Louis all-stars defeated Central Harrison 7-1 with Stone County going ten innings for a 10-6 margin over Orange Grove. The game was knotted 6-6 at the end of six innings at McDonald Field with Orange Grove scoring four runs in the top of the tenth inning for victory.

In the first game at Waveland Monday, Hattiesburg shut out Hancock-Harrison 13-0 with Waveland taking a 10-3 victory over Woolmark.

Games are scheduled to start at 5:30 p.m. at both of the parks each night until the tournament is completed.

The winning team in the Bay-Waveland tournament will be scheduled to play a two-out-of-three game series against the District One Little League all-stars later this summer.

BLACK AND GOLD PRIDE—Robert Gilmore of D'iberville wears the new uniform of the University of Southern Mississippi Pride of Mississippi marching band. The new uniforms feature a gold coat with black trim and black trousers. The debut for the black and gold Pride will be the USM-Louisiana Tech football game Sept. 20 in Hattiesburg.

Comfort family combines talents to take Oak Downs feature race

It was a family affair Sunday at Pearl River, La.'s Oak Downs for the Frank Comforts of the Kiln area.

Miss Moon, owned by Frank Comfort, trained by Frank Comfort Jr. and ridden by Marty Comfort, captured the five-furlong ninth race in a four-horse field.

Miss Moon was clocked in 1:06.3 in defeating Run For Shelter, Old Smoothy and Lady Byrd.

Marty, 17, got his start riding race horses four years ago at Rocky Hill Downs north of Kiln.

The Hancock County youth has been riding regularly at Jefferson Downs in Kenner, La.

He has won only one race at the major track, but is expected to win more as he gets better mounts.

At Oak Downs, Comfort is fourth in the jockey standings, having won five races since the track reopened three weeks ago.

The James Watson family of Waveland made a trip to the winner's circle for the third straight week as Ultra Royal won for the second week in a row in the 350-yard sixth race with an :18.4 clocking.

Sunday's Results
1) 300 yards, Junk Yard Dog, :17.45, Gene Roublon, owner and trainer; Steve Roublon, jockey. Boobie's Man, second.

News from the Church of St. Ann

A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor St. Ann's parish: Getting to know God involves learning by making mistakes, by correcting old impressions, by gaining new insights. Prayer is essentially encountering God as through these encounters getting to know Him. Prayer requires of us a willingness and ability to listen, with all our faculties. We must learn to be receptive to the touch of God. The deadliest delusion would be to approach prayer with the idea that God doesn't have anything to say to us, or that He won't. Who could go on talking to a wall? Once God has touched us in the depth of our being we can never be the same again. Powell

Heat melts bureaucratic dress codes

The origin of the necktie is occasionally brought up, often in attacks on why men have allowed themselves to be hornswoggled into wearing "a piece of cloth tied around their necks."

Women, of course, do not always dress more comfortably than men, and in kind of seasonal ambisexual lib prompted by the national need to conserve energy, the U.S. General Services Administration is encouraging a discarding - or at least loosening - of ties and other sartorial bonds by federal employees.

The government is the nation's single largest consumer of energy, much of which goes into cooling the 10,000 federal buildings GSA controls.

Following President Carter's directive that minimum cooling be used in those buildings, GSA has set their warm season temperature at 80 degrees Fahrenheit (28 celsius).

That, GSA reckons, is not tie-wearing temperature - at least not tied ties - and, through its pamphlet "Keeping Cool," is urging government workers to at least loosen their cravats and dress more coolly during the warm months.

GSA Administrator Rowland G. Freeman III, who co-chairs an interagency task force, is four-square behind his agency's advice.

He recently told a meeting of his senior staff: "I have no problem with (people) not wearing ties. It won't bother me to see any of you not wearing a tie, and I don't want any of you to say that it's okay that some groups, but not your own."

And he encourages other federal employees to join in. GSA's pamphlet has lots of other tips on keeping the federal cool (which, of course, applies to non-feds as well):

wear loose, informal clothing made of fabrics, such as openweave cotton, that "breathe," "Keeping Cool" advises, "the fewer and lighter the clothing layers, the cooler you will feel."

for men in offices "with little public contact," GSA suggests short-sleeved sport shirts and lightweight slacks.

For women, who seem to have historically led the way in sensible warm weather wear, GSA still has advice: in an "informal office," the best choice for cool clothing would be a "loose dress or skirt and blouse, sandals and no hose."

next coolest, the agency says, would be a loose blouse and slacks with sandals and no hose.

in a more formal setting, GSA recommends for women "a dress with hose." And for all, the agency has this climatic counsel:

on your way to work, and to and from lunch or other trips during the day, take it easy. If you work up a sweat rushing around, you may stay uncomfortable all day.

keep your work area cooler by shutting out sunlight through drawn blinds and/or drapes. "Sunlight can raise room temperatures many degrees in a few minutes," GSA informs. Also, draw blinds and drapes when leaving for the day so the office - especially if the morning sun comes in the windows - will be cooler the next work day.

when air conditioning is on, keep windows closed "so you cool the office, not the outdoors."

see that office air vents are open, properly set and not blocked by books, boxes or furniture. If no air is coming from the vents, call whoever is responsible for their operation.

moving air makes you cooler; open hall and inter-office doors to facilitate air flow between rooms.

when not needed, turn off anything that emits heat, such as typewriters, calculators, and coffee pots. GSA offers another reminder: your work area may have different temperatures at different times of the day. Take several readings over a 24-hour period to determine if this is true. Just because your area may be uncomfortably warm at one particular time of the day, does not necessarily mean something is wrong. It may be what the engineers call "solar gain," or that peak use of machines such as computers at a certain time raises the temperature temporarily.

So, the hope is that throughout government - and elsewhere as well - the ties that bind are being loosened for a more comfortable less energy-consuming environment.

LEGAL NOTICES

INVITATION TO BID

Adequate hurricane insurance requires household inventory

Summer means vacation, barbecue, swimming, boating and a host of other outdoor activities to most people; but to Gulf Coast residents it also means keeping a wary eye seaward.

The Insurance Information Institute reminds that August and September mark the height of the hurricane season and that coast residents should plan now for the possibility of a hurricane this year.

Part of that planning should include a check of your insurance coverage, the institute feels.

Most property insurance policies will cover the destruction caused by the winds of a hurricane, but few provide indemnity for losses due to flooding - either from rain, sewer backup or tidal surge.

To cover this peril, a homeowner must purchase special flood insurance offered by the federal government.

In addition to checking the kinds of coverage, also review the amount of coverage.

For partial losses to a house to be fully covered, most homeowners policies require an amount of insurance equal to 80 percent of the home's replacement value.

If a homeowner does not meet this 80 percent requirement, any covered loss will be settled in one of two ways (whichever means the greatest payment to the client):

He could receive a percentage of the value of the loss, based on the ratio of insurance that he actually carries to that amount needed to meet the 80 percent requirement.

He could receive the actual cash value of the loss, which means that depreciation will be figured into the settlement. He should also check that the amount of insurance on personal possessions is adequate. Some homeowners policies automatically limit the amount which can be collected on certain items - such as jewelry, watches, furs and stamp and coin collections - unless there is a special endorsement on the policy.

Also, the total amount of insurance on all possessions not listed separately in the policy is usually 50 percent of the amount of insurance that one carries on his home.

If a policy holder has a lot of especially valuable articles, such as antiques or art objects, and suffers a total loss, this amount of insurance may not be sufficient.

The best way to determine how much insurance is needed is to make an inventory of personal possessions.

The inventory should include a brief description of the item, the date it was purchased, and what it cost, new and what it would cost to replace it today.

Also take pictures of unique or hard-to-describe items that are of particular value.

Once the total value of possessions is determined, it is easy to compare that amount to the amount of insurance already in force.

State Library

director sought by committee

The Board of Commissioners of the Mississippi Library Commission has appointed a five-member search committee to screen applicants for the position of director of the agency.

This action came after the board accepted the resignation of Joe B. Forsee, who has resigned effective August 1, to accept the position of director of the Division of Public Library Services of the Georgia Department of Education in Atlanta.

The board also named David M. Woodburn, assistant director for administration, as acting director of the agency.

The search committee, which will accept applications until October 1, is chaired by Mrs. Douglas Bateman, director of the Lowndes County Library in Columbus.

Other members of the committee include Mrs. Jane Bryan, director of the Pike-Amite-Walthall Library System in McComb; Dr. Rush Miller, director of the W.B. Roberts Library at Delta State University in Cleveland; Mrs. LePoint Smith, director of the Bolivar County Library in Cleveland; and Ms. Savan Tynes, media specialist with the Biloxi Public School System in Biloxi.
